CALL HENRY FORD FOR ELECTION AS STANDARD BEARER

LINCOLN, Neb., July 21.—Faced with semi-official information that neither Bryan nor Billy Sunday will be available to head the national ticket, the Prohibition party temporarily forgot nominees at the opening of its convention today and sweltered through two hours of speech-making. Henry Ford is being mentioned in some quarters as a possible candidate.

FAVOR BRYAN

LINCOLN, Neb., July 21.—Prohibitionists meeting here today in William Jennings Bryan's home town for their national convention chiefly favor Bryan for their presidential nominee. Virgil G. Hinshaw, chairman of the prohibition national committee, said today:

"Judging from communications coming to the prohibition national committee from all parts of the country, Mr. Bryan stands chief in the affections of members of the Prohibition party," said Mr. Hinshaw. "With the two old parties standing aloof, many believe he could be elected as president on the Prohibition ticket."

Reviewing other possibilities for the Prohibition nomination the party chairman said that Daniel A. Poling of Boston stood next to Bryan. Mr. Poling is associate president of the World's Christian Endeavor Societies and was the keynote speaker at the 1916 Prohibition convention. Mr. Hinshaw characterized him as a marvelous campaigner.

(Correspondence of Associated Press) LINCOLN, Neb., July 21.—We are still on the map and our mission is not ended," Aaron S. Watkins, keynote speaker at the Prohibition party's thirteenth presidential year convention, told the delegates at its opening session here this morning. "We must place in the field a ticket of real presidential size and make a campaign that will win the respect of all thinking men and women."

Mr. Watkins said that the prohibition question was not settled and would not be "until the machinery of the government is attached and the lawbreakers surrender unconditionally."

"The experiment of even partially enforcing prohibition," he said, "has been so eminently satisfactory and the demonstrations of moral and industrial improvements so convincing that millions of halberd-bearers beyond a shadow of a doubt."

Mr. Watkins ran on the prohibition ticket in 1908 and 1912 as its candidate for the vice-presidency. He is professor of English in a school at Germantown, Ohio.

SOMERS FILES AS CANDIDATE

Prominent Local Jurist Out For Office of Justice of Peace in Tonopah

Judge Peter J. Somers, well known throughout southern Nevada, this morning filed with County Clerk Glass for the nomination for justice of the peace of Tonopah township. Judge Somers served on the bench as district judge in Imperial county from 1908 to 1914 and made an excellent record during that time, not a single decision made by him being reversed by the state supreme court.

Judge Somers was prominent in Wisconsin before coming to Nevada, having been mayor of Milwaukee for a long period of time and serving the fifth Wisconsin district as representative in congress from 1894 to 1898. Judge Somers is interested in the development of the Arrowhead and Divide mines in this district and has a wide circle of personal friends.

GLASS OUT FOR RE-NOMINATION

T. E. Glass, incumbent of the office of county clerk and county treasurer, is a candidate for reelection. His name will appear on the Democratic ballot and he believes he will be the nominee, so that all electors regardless of party will have a chance to vote for him. Mr. Glass has administered the office he administers with an ability that reflects credit on his direction. During his two terms he served as secretary of the draft board and for over 18 months frequently spent 12 to 14 hours a day of that position. Whenever an inquiry was received he gave it prompt personal attention and after the boys left for overseas or were scattered to the wide-flung mobilization camps he shouldered a mass of correspondence from wives, parents and relatives who confided in his knowledge and relied on his courtesy for reaching their loved ones.

Mr. Glass is a minor by previous occupation, having been actively employed in some of the leading mines of Montana, Colorado and Nevada, and therefore is in a position to understand the requirements of his fellow workers. During the past two years Mr. Glass has discharged the duties of county treasurer, which office he inherited through consolidation and a desire for retrenchment in county affairs. He proved himself equal to the task and his honesty and fidelity will no doubt win him support of many admirers.

GUY ROBERTS and wife left this morning for Reno.

EASTERN MONEY FOR ARROWHEAD

West Arrowhead Mines To Be Completely Financed By Eastern Capital

Eastern capital, having been in communication with the West Arrowhead Mines company, through their real engineers, for the past two months has been interested in noting the developments that have taken place in the shaft.

Immediately upon word of a ledge being encountered on the 120-foot level, an engineer was detailed to examine the property and report on developments. In the communication a notation was made pertaining to the similarity in character of formation to that of Tonopah and Virginia City, also recommending investment in the West Arrowhead Mines company.

A telegraphic reply to the above communication stated: "We accept your proposition." Mr. A. R. Call departed for the east Sunday morning to represent the company. Financial campaigns heretofore have been carried on in both Nevada and California, the majority of the small amount of stock issued being held by local investors. (Associated Press) SANDY HOOK, July 21.—The American defender Resolute won her first race of the 1920 series for the American cup. She must take two more straight victories to prevent Shamrock IV from lifting the trophy. Taking the lead after the start, the Resolute held first place almost to the finish line. Within a mile of the finish, the Shamrock drew alongside, but the Resolute was granted a time allowance of seven minutes and one second and was safe.

Had it not been for the time allowance which the challenger had to give, she would have won, because she finished 18 seconds ahead of the defender. She crossed the starting line, however, 19 seconds ahead of the Resolute and so, boat for boat, by unofficial timing, lost the race by one second plus the seven minutes and one second she had to give the defender.

SHAMROCK TAKES LEAD (Associated Press) SANDY HOOK, July 21.—With two victories to her credit, the Shamrock IV led across the starting line in today's race for America's cup defended by the Resolute. The Lipton sloop needs but one more victory to lift the cup.
